The Parting Glass on the Roof

by Brian Witt

It was the last night of Irish Fest 2005. Up on the roof of the hotel, long after the last visitors had left the grounds, the sky was cloudy, the wind was brisk, and there were hundreds of people gathered. One group consisted of a number of members of the Craobh Curtin Conradh Na Gaeilge, the Milwaukee branch of the Gaelic League, as well as a few of the Irish teachers from the Summer School. Ray MacManais and Meati Jo Sheamais Ó Fatharta started the chorus of “Mo Ghile Mear.” Being one of the few songs that I can sing in Irish, I stayed to add my voice to the assemblage. “Sé mo laoch, mo Ghile Mear, ‘Sé mo Chaesar, Ghile Mear, Suan ná séan ní bhfuairéas féin, Ó chuaigh i gcéin mo Ghile Mear.” “He’s my hero, my gallant darling, (or Shining boy), He is my Caesar (or leader), a Gallant Darling; I’ve found neither rest nor fortune, Since my Gallant Darling went far away.”

The song is about Bonnie Prince Charlie – Charles Stuart– the Young Pretender. And, in spite of its spirited delivery, it is actually a song of great despair. In it, the woman sings of the departure of her true love, who has left her hopeless and alone. This song goes back to the period when patriotic expression of Ireland in poetry was outlawed. Poets would get around such restrictions by couching the terms in love poems. The objects of them would often be a woman, usually feeling as though she was abandoned, or that she was taken captive. Songs and poems in this genre include “Shan Van Vocht”, “Grania Vaile”, “Cathleen ni Houlihan” and “Roisin Dubh.” “The Blackbird” was another song about Charlie, written in the same vein.

Charles Stuart was the son of James Francis Stuart, the Old Pretender. There were a number of risings in the name of the Stuarts over the centuries that had a direct influence on Catholic and Gaelic Ireland and Scotland. These revolts, know as the “Jacobite” risings, from the Latin word for James, would erode the Gaelic order of Ireland, cause the leading Catholic families to populate the armies and governments of the world, and take away for centuries a naturally based Irish leadership. How did that happen?

The Stuarts, or Stewarts, had been a part of Scottish politics since their arrival from Brittany in the 11th Century. Through a series of interactions, they took over from the House of Bruce as the royal Scottish family. In 1603 James VI, through his great-grandmother Margaret Tudor, daughter of Henry VII of England, inherited the English throne as King James I. After the 1649 execution of James’ son Charles I during Oliver Cromwell’s revolution, the Stuarts were excluded from the throne until the restoration of Charles II in 1660.

Charles II was succeeded in 1685 by his Roman Catholic brother James II, who so alienated the sympathies of his subjects that in 1688 William, Prince of Orange, was invited to come “to the rescue of the laws and religion of England.” James fled, and by the Bill of Rights (1689) and the Act of Settlement (1701), which denied the crown to any Roman Catholic, he and his descendants were excluded from the throne. James II’s loss at the Battle of the Boyne also altered forever the landscape of Gaelic Ireland. The Siege of Limerick, and the subsequent treaty, saw the Irish nobles leaving Ireland under Patrick Sarsfield, and with them many young men who spoke Gaelic. James acquired the nickname “Seamus an chaca” from the Irish nobles.

The Jacobite revolts in 1715 and 1745, first under James Francis Stuart, and the second under Bonnie Prince Charlie, resulted in harsh treatment for the Highland Scots. Both men had come over from France, and both were known as being too Catholic for the Crown and too French to be English.

The Irish nobles, although burnt by the loss of James II in Ireland, were also looking for a return to Ireland. They gave financial support to the rising of 1745, and also helped keep Charles in better circumstances in France and Italy than he might have been, although many complained about the excessive debts he incurred on their generosity. However, the hopes of the many Catholic nobles for a return to power under the banner of the Stuarts was to never happen. Instead of rule, they got songs and poems.

The Battle of the Boyne yielded the tune, and most likely a song attached to it, “Seamus an chaca a chaill Eire”, or James the Turd that lost Ireland. 1715 offered up “Sherrifmuir.” And the Cork poet Seán Clárach Mac Domhnaill gave us “Mo Ghile Mear”. The last verse of the song concludes “Hero whose hopes have turned to smoke, Erin all wrapped in mourning cloak, I watch and wait, I dread my fate, Since my gallant laddie went away.”

This song, however, is sung in the Gaeltacht at closing time, in order to stretch out the drinking. As it went on the roof, each chorus was met with a joining of glasses as the singers stood, and sung in a louder refrain. The sadness of the words are completely lost in its robust delivery. And maybe it was just better that way. Because, as the second last verse says, “Come, drain your cups as wild harps play, Let every Celt praise his noble name. As long as blood flows in your veins, Raise a toast for his health, wish him length of days.” Cheers.

UPCOMING EVENTS

- OCTOBER 18 – 6 p.m. Pot Luck Dinner; 7 p.m. Regular Meeting; Janesville Senior Center, 69 S. Water St.
- NOVEMBER 15 – 7 p.m. Regular Meeting.

Plan now to come to our October meeting and potluck dinner. Bring a dish to pass and your own table service. The Club will provide the coffee. Mark that date on your calendar – October 18th. Bring a friend along with you. They just might like to join our club. Our program for the October Meeting will be a video about Ireland.

Our Annual picnic was in August and it was enjoyed by all. It was a beautiful evening and the bugs were few and did not cause us any problems. There was plenty of food, and oh, what a wonderful variety. We are looking forward to seeing all of you at the October and November meetings. We are starting to make plans for our Christmas Party.

– President Tom Kennedy

Milwaukee President's Message

It may not seem possible that we are in the month of October, as the summer has flown past. October is the end of the Celtic calendar, and begins anew on November 1. We hope you are ready to bring out the Aran knit sweaters, and feel the nip of cold after our long and hot summer season. So many beautiful days are left to enjoy Wisconsin's fine scenery and autumn's spectacular display of color. For hundreds of years, October marked the end of matchmaking in Lisdoonvarna in Ireland. Because the harvest was in, the farmers now had time to go there and look for a wife. Lisdoonvarna was well known for its good water, and began as a vacation retreat. The minerals in this water were thought to cure almost anything. There are only two matchmakers remaining today, and so the tradition continues if not a bit smaller in scale. On a sadder note, October 1845 marked the beginning of the potato famine in Ireland, an event that changed all of Ireland and the United States in particular.

We are beginning to prepare for the annual Folk Fair, and to represent the Irish in the community. We have three areas in which to volunteer, the food booth, the retail booth and the cultural area. The dancers perform in the folk fair setting, and the crowd expects the Irish dancers to be both entertaining and above average in quality, as we have so much talent in this area. This weekend before Thanksgiving is a nice way to get to know your fellow club members, and to assist our fund raising for the year. We do have to wear clothing as dictated by the International Institute, and it provides a uniformity and pride in heritage to do so. If you don't have the clothing required, it may be provided for you.

I certainly hope to see many of you at our Honoree Dinner on October 2nd. You have seen it advertised for the last two months, and we will combine it with the Club's 45th anniversary. We know you will enjoy seeing old friends and making new ones. The Shamrock Club honorees are so deserving of a joyous night of celebration and recognition. The price of $25 per person for a dinner dance is as economical as we could possibly do, please do attend and bring friends.

See you at the next meeting.

– Julie Smith, President

Color Guard News & Notes

Well the leaves are turning and the Shamrock Club Color Guard, Pipes and Drums is closing out on another year. All that's left for us is Mayville Oct. 2; AOH Mass Oct. 1; and our favorite weekend – Sister Bay on Oct. 14/16. And I'm sorry I don't think there are any openings, but please if you're interested contact Karen Nielson at either [knielson_23@yahoo.com] or 328-4027.

The Shamrock Club Color Guard, Pipes and Drums is actively fund raising in many ways and I hope that the members of the Shamrock Club come through and help us get to Texas. You can either:

(1) buy a yummy Suzy's Cheesecake for only $7.75 a pie and they will be delivered on Nov. 15 at the ICHC. Contact any member to order. (2) Have a portrait taken by Leo Pilak Photography. (3) donate to our web site www.sccgpd.org (it's tax deductible) (4) donate to Holly's mom's e-bay store any sellable item (5) and lastly a pizza sale is coming.

The group has taken 1st place in Muskego and I want to thank everyone for their hard work.

A big thank you to Joe Donovan. I don't know how you have traveled so many parades and the cool down and each parade. We'll truly miss you. Twenty five years is a long time and the stories you have told, and will tell, are what makes the rest of us out there keep the tradition going. Finally, there is another briefcase story and this one is very interesting.

As always, please check our web site for updates: [www.sccgpd.org].

If you would like to have the Shamrock Club Color Guard, Pipes and Drums appear in a parade, special event or family occasion – or you would like to join the Unit as a banner carrier, color guard, piper or drummer, please contact:

2005 Annual Shamrock Club Picnic

The Shamrock Club picnic took place on August 7 at Lake Park in Milwaukee. Almost 500 attended during the course of the day. Atlantic Wave, the Shamrock Club Color Guard Pipes and Drums, the Milwaukee Police and Fire Pipe Bands, and the Glencastle Irish Dancers all performed. Members of the Shamrock Club Griffins from the Milwaukee Hurling Club were all given a three month membership in the Shamrock Club. Kids games included “pin the shamrock on the leprechaun” and the “shamrock pinata,” made by Jack Suit.

The day’s events were organized by Dawn and Pete Fleming. Special thanks to the Milwaukee Hurling Club for making our picnic its round robin.

Celtic Women: First Friday Lectures

Oct. 7, 2005

Topic: We Cornish Americans

Speaker: Jerome Trewyn

Jerome is a retired history teacher whose ancestors emigrated from Wales and Cornwall 150+ years ago. He is the president of the Cornish Society of Greater Milwaukee, leads tours for Historic Milwaukee and is a docent at the Art Museum. His talk will cover Cornish culture; the emigration story; miners and fishermen; art and landscape; unique geology; and how the Cornish are organized today to preserve their heritage.

Lectures are held from 5:30 – 7:00 p.m. at the ICHC, 2133 W. Wisconsin Avenue, Milwaukee. Admission is $5 for all. Everyone is welcome including men and non-members as well as Celtic Women members. Tea and biscuits are served. Please join us for a delightful few hours of Celtic education and entertainment. You may call the ICHC at 414-345-8800 for more information.

Parking Note: Please observe the parking areas surrounding the ICHC and follow the posted signs designating the lots where parking is allowed for the ICHC. Thank you.

Color Guard Fundraisers

The Shamrock Club Color Guard Pipes and Drums is trying to raise money in order to appear in the San Antonio 2006 St. Patrick's Day Parade.

To help us in this endeavor, a photo package deal is being offered through Leo Pilak Photography. For every $75 donation to the Unit he will donate one 8.5" x 11" Family Portrait Certificate with a value of $200. The second offer is through Suzy Creamcheese. A number of flavors are available for $7.75 each for 6-inch cakes. Flavors to choose from are: New York Cheesecake, Chocolate Chip, Cheesecake, Chocolate Amaretto Cheesecake, Strawberry Marble Cheesecake, Toffee Cheesecake with Butter Brickle, Blueberry Streusel Cheesecake and Irish Cream Cheesecake. These retail for $10 each, so this is a bargain, as well as a chance to help send the group to Texas. See any Color Guard member for information.
